DAILY RECORD-UNION

WEDNESDAY JUNE 25, 1890.

San Francisco Agencies.

This paper is for sale at the following places: G. A. Fisher's, room 21, 10th and Exchange, California, the principal News Stands and Hotels, and at the Market-street Ferry.

Also, for sale on all trains leaving and coming into Sacramento.

It is said that the Soudanese are anxious to throw off the yoke of the Mahdi. A merchant recently in from the Upper Nile declares that the whole Soudanese population is praying that Egypt will send a sufficient force to crush the Mahdi. His rule has been harsh, tyrannical, and has resulted in exhausting the Soudanese to such an extent that all ambition to labor is crushed out of them. The story of the Arab merchant is that the Mahdi has now over four thousand followers in arms, and that the greater portion of these stand ready to desert at any favorable opportunity. Assuming this tale to be true, the question for Egypt is a very simple one. But that nation has not in all its population a half dozen men fit to officer an expedition, while its soldiers are, for the most part, freed blacks hired to do duty and without a spark of enthusiasm or love for the country. If Egypt moves now against the Mahdi, she must have assistance, and there is but one nation so situated as to render it without causing international complications. The English have a small force in Egypt already; they have competent officers in plenty, and their interests in Egypt are very large. Yet it would seem that both the Khedive and the English Government must have known exactly what is the strength of the Mahdi, and that they ought to be assumed to be constantly "posted" as to the sentiment of the Soudanese, and that the story of the Arab merchant is not news to them.

The United States Circuit Court at San Francisco has decided that the Chinese arrested for violation of the ordinance of that city against lotteries must be tried in the State Courts, and the plea that the defendants are aliens will not avail to remove their cases to the Federal Courts, though the latter have the right to review the proceedings in the other Courts. It also holds that the law is not discriminating against the Chinese, and that the plea to that end is groundless. Now let us see if the San Francisco authorities will vigilantly enforce the ordinance. They have done well thus far, and there is reason to expect that they will stamp out the lottery nuisance. In that case the entire breed of lottery dealers can come up to Sacramento and indulge their trade to their heart's content. There is not only no ordinance here to stop them, but neither is there enforcement of the State law—in short, this is the lottery brokers' paradise.

SMITH, the "Governor General" of the San Diego filibustering scheme for the conquest of Lower California, has made a clean breast of the whole business. He charges an English syndicate with the whole scheme, and as being the really responsible body behind the attempt to rob a neighboring Government of a large part of its territory. This corresponds with the Mexican view of the matter, and accounts for the declaration of the Mexican minister at Washington, that while the United States will be expected to punish such offenders as are American citizens, England is the nation to which Mexico will look for the most vigorous exhibition of justice in the case. No matter what view England may take of it, the duty of the United States is unmistakable and plain. It will be a national disgrace if there is failure to call the offenders to the bar of justice.

POLICEMAN HAWKINS.

HOW HE SPENT HIS VACATION IN THE CAPITAL CITY.

An Alleged Attempt to Blackmail a Sacramento Woman—An Investigation Going On.

A couple of weeks ago a San Francisco weekly paper published an article relating how a certain young woman of Sacramento, referred to as "Lulu G—," took a trip to the metropolis, in company with two others of her sex, and had a "high old time" at various notorious resorts.

A San Francisco policeman, named John Hawkins, learned that "Lulu G—" was none other than Lulu Gonnert, the daughter of Adrian Gonnert, who keeps a saloon and wholesale liquor store at Second and L streets. Knowing that the father was tolerably well fixed, financially, the "peace guardian" resolved to embark on a money-making scheme.

As each member of the San Francisco Police Department is allowed a vacation of four days each year, Hawkins immediately applied at headquarters for his vacation and it was granted. But instead of rushing off to the mountains or the seashore it appeared that the policeman boarded the train to the capital.

Upon arriving here he first looked up the "two other young ladies" referred to in the San Francisco publication, and it is said managed to enlist them in his cause by promises of other. These "two other young ladies" were sisters, Minnie and Alice Ross.

Hawkins then, it appears, sent a note to Miss Ross requesting that she meet him on a certain day and hour, signing himself as "Mr. H—" and announcing that "Minnie and Alice know all."

Miss Gonnert says she consulted her father first and was advised to see what the policeman said. She then went to the Chief of Police, and this had the effect, so she says, of badly frightening Hawkins. He asked her to let the matter drop and also to the Sacramento papers.

The young woman, instead of quietly submitting to his demand, told him to go ahead and do what he wanted. She said she would report the matter immediately to the Chief of Police, and this had the effect, so she says, of badly frightening Hawkins. He asked her to let the matter drop and went away.

But the end was not yet. Chief of Police Drew learned of the affair, and of the part Hawkins had taken in it, and wrote to Chief Crowley of the San Francisco police on Sunday, giving the full particulars.

Chief Crowley was indignant, and immediately despatched Sergeant Wittman to this city to make an investigation. He also sent for Hawkins, and questioned him closely. Hawkins denied that he had attempted to blackmail the woman; but, strange to say, it was only a few hours after his interview with the Chief that Hawkins was out on his vacation and filed with the Police Commissioners.

The resignation, however, was not accepted. Chief Crowley and the Commissioners did not intend that he should get off so easily.

Sergeant Wittman arrived in this city yesterday forenoon, and immediately sought Miss Gonnert. She gave him the particulars as given above, and subsequently he was advised that the boy contained all of said facts. The affidavit was to be presented with other evidence unearthed by Sergeant Wittman to the San Francisco Police Commissioners. The Sergeant said he might be called upon to give an account of what he had already gathered that the local police party had for Hawkins. He estimated also that Hawkins may be subjected to a criminal prosecution besides being dismissed from the Police.

The Ross sisters pronounce Miss Gonnert's statements as false, and sent word to Sergeant Wittman yesterday that they would meet him in the evening and prove to the world that what they say is true, by finding Miss Gonnert to be guilty. They did not materialize however.

Sergeant Wittman will probably return to the Bay to-day.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Metropolitan Theater last night there was a good house to witness the representation of "Held by the Enemy" by Mr. Fohrman's company. The drama was well mounted, well played and excellently cast.

It is not comedy, an is "Shenan doah." It is heavier, more intricate in plot and more serious in its military activities. There is in the last act, however, nothing but sunshine and humor, and these clear the skies and send the audience home well pleased.

The trial by Court-martial and the punishment of the condemned through the lines are two scenes of intense dramatic interest, and have but few equals in strength and intensity. Miss Minnie Dupee carries the burden of the comedy, and is an angel of grace in her rôle.

But Miss Dupee was not the only one who did well. The leading party, however, for Hawkins, was the "leading lady," was with the Chairman of the Grand Jury, but the names of the parties indicated were withheld pending the arrests.

been side-tracked at Ninth and C streets. Officer Higgins ordered a cab and went after the man. He found the story to be only too true. Upon a load of filthy straw lay an emaciated form of man who was so weak that he could not walk. The car had been his abode for several weeks, and it was in a shockingly filthy condition. The stench was so great the officer could hardly stay there long enough to get the half-dead creature out.

The man was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he was recognized as Geo. O'Brien, a stranger, who was arrested some time ago on suspicion of having stolen a watch-chain which he was trying to sell, but was discharged.

Although at that time his weight was probably 160 pounds, he looked last night as though he had not eaten for a week, in fact, he is a living skeleton. He said he had eaten nothing for three weeks, and his appearance was such as to give credence to the statement.

He had not noticed the police until he had "locked" O'Brien and brought him a little food, but that he stomach would not retain it.

Officer Rider got some milk and gave the man a drink and told him, that this morning City Physician Dr. C. Nichols will see what can be done for him.

O'Brien says he doesn't know what is the matter with himself, and he was so tired he had to remain in the car and stay there until he was unable to leave it.

HOPE LEE'S FLIGHT.

He is Sorry that He Paid $150 for Mr. Miller's Diamond.

Hope Lee is a sad Chinaman.

Last week, it will be remembered, Hop Lee took W. B. Miller's wash. Among the articles of clothing was Mr. Miller's shirt, containing, Mr. Miller claimed, some gold buttons and a diamond. Upon discovering his loss Mr. Miller went to the laundry and recovered the buttons, but the diamond could not be found. The result was that the Chinese boy who opened the bundle of clothing was arrested, but no charge was placed against him. Hop Lee was not in good humor, and he said he needed the services of the laundry. Hop Lee tried to bail the boy out, but as no charge had been made against him the officers could not fix the bail. Hop Lee was advised, however, to see Mr. Miller. He did so. Mr. Miller could prove himself innocent. Hop Lee was released.

But Hop has been thinking the matter over, and has come to the conclusion that he is not in the clear. He told the Sacramento Union reporter that the boy was now willing and anxious to be tried in Court on the charge, as he was confident he could prove himself innocent. Hop Lee is now in the hands of the police, and the boy was released.

The above list is supplemented by a statement to the effect that the list had been made up from such facts as the Chief had been able to glean concerning the places named. He says he has endeavored to be as perfect and impartial as possible, and if he omitted any place he would be named he is ready to act upon complaint.

Chief Drew further informs the Board that he understood that he was to report "such places as were main rear rooms, and that were young girls frequent in company with dissolute men, and rendezvous for thieves."

The Recon-UX reporter who was present when the Trustees, on the 17th, told the Board that they had understood the request of the Board to that body to list the places named in the Police report to that body a list of divers that should be closed by having their licenses revoked. In either case, the list should be kept confidential for its own sake.

If the "records of thieves" were closed all of such places surely have not been included in the above list, as the members of the police force can readily testify. The Chief concluded his report as follows:

Unfortunately, it has been found in the past that the police have been instrumental in causing the closing of such places, when requested to complain of a wagon and spars of horses belonging to an old man named Davidson, by declaring that he wanted to hire them; subsequently it is said, he refused to give them up, and so on. All right, title, and interest, in and to the east half of lot 3, H and I, Sixth and Seventh streets; grant.

SPOKANE FALLS.

Excitement Over a Conflict Between State and City Officials.

SPOKANE FALLS (Wash.) June 24th.—All day long the city has been deeply excited over a conflict between city and State authorities. The struggle has been between the City of Spokane and the Spokane Street Railway Company for the privilege of laying tracks on the public streets. At the last meeting of the Council that body ordered both companies to tear up the tracks of the other. The Southern Pacific company, the Spokane Street Railroad Company did not, and instead obtained an injunction from the Superior Court to restrain the tearing up of their tracks.

A 4 o'clock gun was fired by the agents of the City Park Transit Company, began tearing up the tracks of their opponent, being protected by Judge Kamard of the Superior Court.

Judge Kamard of the Superior Court then issued a restraining order, and acting Mayor Donahue, and Alderman Coney were arrested for contempt of Court.

Soon thereafter Sheriff Hinrichs and Chief of Police Hubbard and his Captains under arrest. They submitted, and in turn ordered the Sheriff to release the Alderman and his deputy. Then all the parties went before Judge Kamard. Judge Kamard was annoyed over the non-compliance of the Sheriff with his order to enforce them, and to tear up the new track of the Transit company, even if he had to go to the State Capital.

The Sheriff gathered 200 deputies and, going to Division street, tore up the track of the Transit company, and then the Spokane Street Railway Company, thus leaving matters where they were at the beginning of the day, and, finding that it was the Superior Court for decision.

A special session of the City Council is now in session, but as yet have taken no steps in the matter.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

It Passes a Resolution Favoring an International Bank.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24th.—The Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting to-day adopted a resolution favoring the establishment of an international bank for the American Republics, and that too, in connection with the resolution, declaring it the sense of the Chamber of Commerce that Congress, to secure a proper circulation with gold, should pass a compromise bill enforcing the coining of millions of standard dollars, and that the coinage of gold in the States, exclusively of the production of American can mines, said coinage to be made full legal tender, and that the same be sent to the Government by the Government for circulation as a representative of said coin in the treasury, when demand.

A number of members expressed themselves as opposed to free coinage, and others thought the same, but the majority were in favor of the resolution to loan for a monthly coinage, moving to reduce it to four millions.

A motion was made to adjourn until next Friday, to permit the absent members to be present, and make known their views.

THE TERMINAL COMPANY.

It sells Out to the Pacific—A Union Depot to be Built.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 24th.—At the late meeting of the officers of the Northern Pacific Terminal Company an agreement was arrived at by which the Southern Pacific can go, and arrive to the port of Portland, the divisional union depot and the carrying out of the plan of the Terminal Company.

At the station, the Union Pacific had bought the Terminal Company's property on the east side of the river. It is noted that the tract will be sold for $1,500,000, and the amount of land adjoining, also with a frontage of about a mile: also the magnificent ship house by the Terminal Company at a cost of $60,000, the round-house, warehouses, coal bunkers, tracks, etc.

HEROIC ACT.

A man loses his life in an endeavor to Avert a Railroad Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24th.—A Chronicle reporter, who had been in the rear of the three companions—had to leave the water from under a hand-car. When well in the discoverer, he was suddenly struck by a hand-car end. The tunnel was too narrow to allow a hand-car to be lifted to one side, so Miller ran forward to stop the hand-car, and succeeded in getting it started back on the hand-car. Miller succeeded in flagging the train and stood aside to let it pass, but the hand-car had run over him, and was very spot, and the first car jumped the track and crushed him against the wall, half buried in the earth, and was then pulled by his body stood right up against the wall, with an arm extended holding the lantern, for more than an hour before being dug out.
